City Manager's Office News

Read Across America: On Tuesday, the world celebrated the birthday of Dr. Seuss and across the country community members were invited to read to students at their local schools. I was honored to read to a sixth grade class and a third grade class at Los Coyotes Elementary School. In fact, I read Freckle Juice to the sixth graders, a book I had purchased at a book fair when I was in sixth grade, (and as I was reminded - yes I know that was a very long time ago). I was pleased to hear that the book is still in publication and many of the students had read it.

Police Department News

Armed Robbery at Walgreens: On March 2, 2016, at about 8:50 p.m., LPPD received a 911 call from Walgreens located at 5961 La Palma Avenue regarding an armed robbery that just occurred. Officers immediately responded but could not locate the suspect in the area. The suspect approached the store manager at the counter and produced a handgun from his pants pocket. The suspect demanded money and threatened that he would shoot everyone in the store. The suspect fled the location with cash from the business. No vehicle was seen and no one was injured during the incident.

The suspect is described as a black male, 35-40 years of age, 5-07 with a heavy build, wearing a gray beanie hat, grey long sleeved shirt, and blue jeans. Responding officers were able to obtain the surveillance video from the business but the suspect has not been identified.

Residential Burglary Resulting From an Unlocked Car: On March 2, 2016, at about 5:30 a.m., Officers responded to a residence in the 7200 block of Monterey Lane regarding a residential burglary. The investigation revealed that at approximately 5:00 a.m., the victim discovered his unlocked truck that was parked in his driveway had been rummaged through and the garage door opener was missing. The victim checked his home surveillance video cameras and discovered that at approximately 1:40 a.m. that morning, an unknown male suspect entered his unlocked truck and took the garage door opener along with some documents.

Later at about 4:30 a.m., the same suspect returned with the victim's garage door opener and entered the garage by using the remote. In the victim's garage, the suspect stole a duffle bag containing four handguns.

La Palma-Cerritos AAUW's Fiesta Funds Brunch raises funds

By Edna Ethington

The Tanglewood Clubhouse in Cypress was transformed into a Mexican Cantina by members of the La Palma-Cerritos Branch of American Association of University Women (AAUW) for their Fiesta Funds Brunch on Saturday, Feb. 20.

Members came to enjoy a delicious catered Mexican lunch from Julian's in Hawaiian Gardens and also to hear guest speaker Shannon Cholakian relate her past experiences as a student participating in National AAUW's Tech Trek Camps and the National Conference for College Women Student Leaders (NCCWSL) in Washington, D.C.

With 30 members in attendance and additional donations from other members, over $900 were raised by the Fiesta Funds Brunch. All of the proceeds from the brunch will be given to the National AAUW Fund which supports women in a variety of programs during their undergraduate and graduate studies. Donors can designate which particular fund or program they wish to donate.

La Palma-Cerritos AAUW

Legal Advocacy Fund Chair, Tobi Balma explained some of the many different programs and activities that the AAUW Fund supports. They included Legal Advocacy Fund (LAF), and also new programs such as Elect Her to help women leaders in college, Start Smart to prepare college women to enter the job market and Tech Savy and Tech Trek to encourage and inform young girls and women about STEM education and careers.

Balma then introduced the guest speaker, Shannon Cholakian. Cholakian said that she was so impressed with AAUW when she was first selected to attend a Tech Trek Camp in 2007. She said that that was the first time she realized that there were other girls like herself who enjoyed science and math and the challenges and opportunities provided by a college education. Cholakian received a scholarship in 2014 to attend the NCCWSL Conference in Washington, D.C. and later was invited to join the National Student Advisory Council to plan a future NCCWSL conference.

She currently is teaching a middle school math class and will be graduating from California State University, Long Beach, with a major in human development.

AAUW Funds co-chairs Barbara Dunstan and Gail Wendland thanked everyone for coming to the brunch and helping raise funds for the AAUW Fund. She also thanked Flo Buchanan for being the resident hostess of the Tanglewood Clubhouse and the committee members who helped to decorate the clubhouse and prepare the drinks and food for the buffet.

Everyone who came to the Fiesta Funds Brunch will remember how beautiful the clubhouse looked as it was filled with colorful serapes, sombreros, flags and paper flower decorations that added to the festive atmosphere.

a moving Orange County Transportation Authority bus around 6:50 a. m. on Feb. 18 on East La Palma Avenue.

She assaulted two Anaheim police officers, causing them to handcuff her and sit her on the curb, police Sgt. Daron Wyatt said.

She went into cardiac arrest while on the curb, was taken to a hospital and died at some point, Wyatt said.

The coroner's office has declined so far to say when she died.

Tobe, it turns out, was also the woman accused of igniting a police pursuit last month that ended in six pit bulls running across a Long Beach freeway.

Authorities say she led California Highway Patrol officers on a high-speed chase. An officer had attempted to wake her while she was sleeping behind the wheel.

She then sped off from the westbound 91 freeway in Buena Park to the southbound 710 freeway before an officer used a PIT maneuver to get her to halt near Pacific Coast Highway.

Three of six pit bulls in the Mercedes-Benz took off and were corralled by animal control officers.

According to jail records, Tobe, a housekeeper, posted bond after the police pursuit and was released from the Orange County jail two days before her death.
